Dear Members of the Class of 2009:

Congratulations on four wonderful years. Your class has come together and established a positive record in the classroom and in our many varied activities. You have helped us be more aware of our responsibility to mankind as you moved recycling to a much higher level.

As you use this book to reflect on your high school experience, be proud of your accomplishments, your service and your strong reputation. You met the challenge of providing positive leadership for the entire school. You are all unique with boundless possibilities. We wish you success and happiness in all that you do.

Thanks to each of you from all of us!

President: Morgan Riddle Vice President: Paige Sirois Secretary: Abigail Trigilio Treasurer: Sarah Behan The adventure has begun. The Class of 2012 is composed of bright, caring, cooperative, musical, athletic, and artistic young adults. We are constantly learning and growing through our strengths and weaknesses.

During spirit week we saw compassion, loyalty, and determination. Our class spent endless hours perfecting our wall, just to find out in the morning that everything had fallen. The enormous amount of classmates that showed up to help was truly amazing. Encouraging comments from faculty and upper-classmen made us feel welcomed.

This year has been successful with the help of many people. We thank our class advisor and especially our parents. Thank you for dropping us off and picking us up. Thank you for baking, chaperoning, and donating your time. Most of all, thank you for caring. We also appreciate all the support of the upperclassmen. We look to you as our role models.

Best of luck to the Class of 2009! Thank you for inspiring us to be the best that we can be!

President: Annabelle Berkman Vice President: Mary Markos Secretary: Hailey Markos Treasurer: Lydia Earley

"You may wonder, 'How can I leave it all behind if I am just coming back to it? How can I make a new beginning if I simply return to be old?' The answer lies in the return. You will not come back to the 'same old thing.' What you return to has changed you because you have changed. Your perceptions will be altered. You will not incorporate into the same body, status, or world you left behind. The river has been flowing while you were gone. Now it does not look like the same river."

-Steven Foster

Change: throughout our school years that is what we have encountered. Over the years we have changed from practicing an instrument in front of our parents, to playing on stage in front of hundreds of people. We have changed from playing soccer in our backyard, to playing in stadiums. We have changed from getting 1's and 2's in math and reading, to get A's and B's. We have changed from singing and acting in our rooms, to performing under bright lights. We have changed into musicians, athletes, academic achievers, singers, actors, techies, and more. We have become so many different things in these years and that's all due to change. We come back each year with a new goal and new beginning and we achieve those goals, we make the best of that new beginning. We face change straight on, we endure it and we strive to achieve it. What we do doesn't change, but who we are does, and we have all changed into amazing people. We are the class that will always be remembered and loved; we are the Class of 2011.

Let's make these next few years the best they can be! Congratulations and good luck Class of 2011!

President: Jackson Sabbagh Vice President: Lauren Mazzola Secretary: Matt Burke Treasurer: Jena Woodworth Juniors.

If every time that somebody told you who you could be and who you could not be, you would be a child of someone's expectations. You would color inside the lines and laugh at jokes that weren't funny. You would let people walk past you, or over you. You would spend hours perfecting your handwriting and your ability to calculate the function of a line on a graph. You would obey every rule and conform to every stereotype.

Somewhere in the back of our heads, we have a memory of when we were told what to be, and when we listened. But if everything that we are is our mistakes, if we are defined by our moments of weakness, we would be failures. We're not Failures.

We color outside the lines, we only laugh at jokes that are funny. We don't let people walk past us, or over us. Our handwriting is chicken scratch and half the time, we can't even make ourselves function. We break rules, and we defy stereotypes.

We have many things ahead of us, and the only thing for certain is that someone will tell us who we can do and who we cannot be. Don't Listen.

Best Of Friends

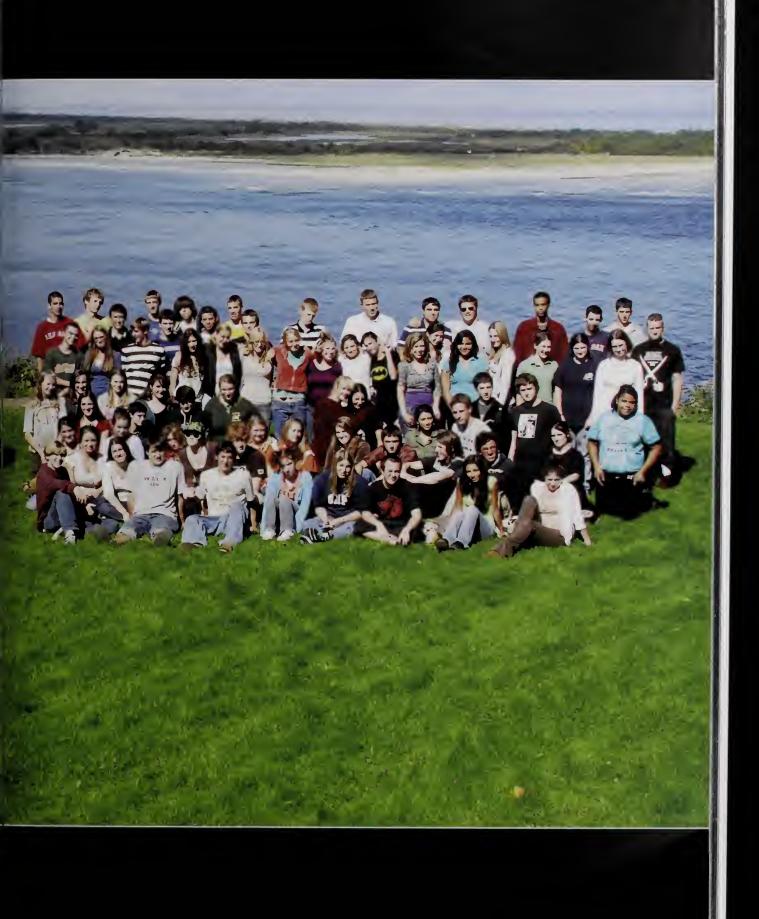

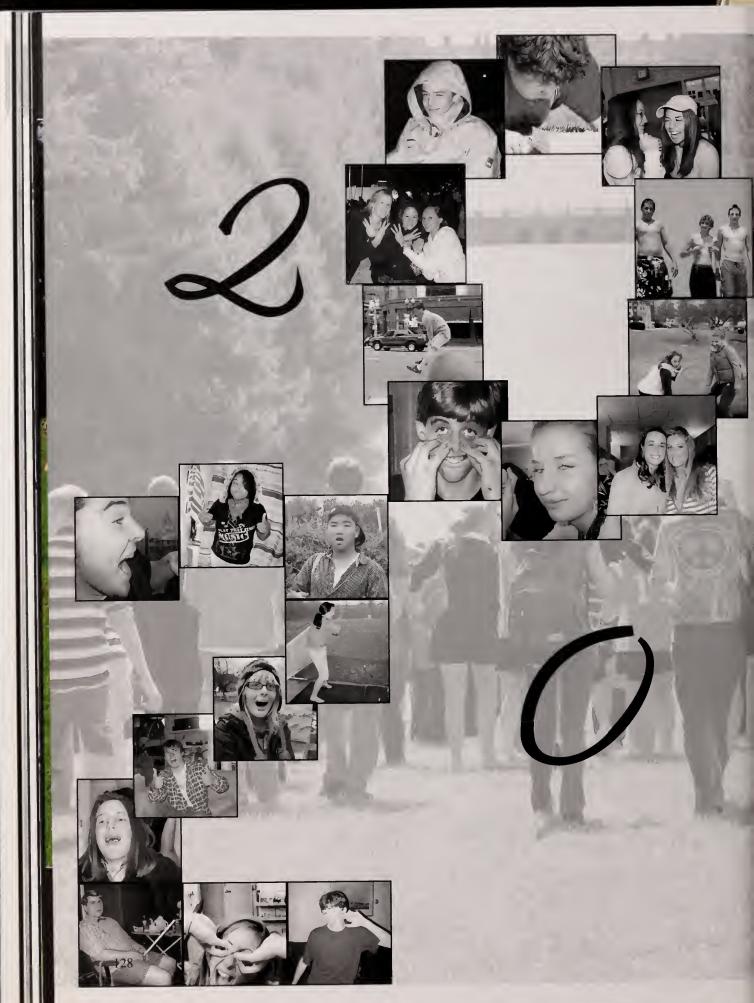

Senior Presidential Addres

Trealize that, after four years of academic diligence, many of us may long for even the briefest sojourn from school. Nevertheless, as your president, I cannot help but ask of all of you, my fellow members of the Ipswich High School Class of 2009, to sit in for one last lesson.

I ask of each of you only two small tasks: to learn and to give.

Never stop learning. Learn to challenge what is known and to pursue what is unknown.

Learn to embrace change, and to always harbor hope. Learn from mistakes, learn from triumphs.

Most importantly, learn to love who and why you are.

I ask you to give. Give others the opportunity to know you, for the world is a far more remarkable place simply because you are a part of it! Give others your time, your blessings, your heart. Give them what you one day wish to receive, for I assure you that doing good for others is the only thing that does you any good.

I wish to congratulate each member of the Class of 2009 for the brilliant individual they have come to be. Whether we pride ourselves in academics, athletics, or the arts, each of us is a significant asset to our graduating class. I am confident that if we all continue to learn and to give, others will give anything to learn who we are.

On behalf of our class, I would like to thank Messrs. Cahill and Dalton, as well as the entire staff at Ipswich High School, for all they have done to help us become the people we are today.

And to the Class of 2009, I wish you the best of luck in all your coming endeavors.

I hope the tassel was worth the hassle!

~ Audrey

Choice, Chance, and Happenstance?

"For every first there is a last; for every simple choice a chance"

it was recently that came to me
a thought so excellent in theory
i could leave my mundane family for 'twas off to college for a man like meYet a different dream was on my mind
one of leaving my life behind;
of turning round on my kin
all in pursuit of fitting in.

"For every first there is a last; for every simple choice a chance"

i wanted to live the expected life
to have a career maybe a wife to own a lawn i'd have to mow and never, ever, have enough dough pay a mortgage and get a dog
here, however, my dream was a fog.
For what was perfect, what was right?
As if someone turned off my light,
with mind and heart both full of strife
i wondered how others could plan my life.

"For every first there is a last; for every simple choice a chance"

An in-town job would be enough i would show them all how tough i could be without luck; instead of college i'd rent a home i the dog, this goal my bone so i went down an oft' paved road that led to living on my own; and now that meager time hath passed i'm not the first won't be the last to see that life is just a chance so do not leave to happenstance the opportunity to advance when you can make a willful choice and years from now with eyes gone moist you don't look back on your life's joist to see that before living on your own you never thought you'd feel this alone

Tom-

When you were four, you told me you wanted to drive a tractor when you grew up. I know now that you will be steering a Tug Boat or piloting a large ship on the ocean. Good luck on your journey!

We are so proud of you and love you very much.

Mom, Dad, Katie, Buster & Bailey

Malina Jai Webb

You will always be our little baby girl no matter how old you get or how successful you become. We are so very proud of who you are and who you have become. We love you.

Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined!

We love you, Mom and Katie

Chad Andrew Leonard

Dear Chad-Chaddy-The Chadster,

It is time to find your way, another fork in the road. It has been wonderful to watch you grow up into the fine young man that you have become. You are an amazing son and a loving big brother to Olivia. Your incredible smile and great personality divides you from others.

As always, stay away from bad things!

ERIC JARMOLOWICZ

The sky let go with a cold and lonesome rain I smiled and said don't be sad Mamma's watchin you today'. Cause there's holes in the floor of Heaven and her tears are pourin' down that's how you know she's watchin' wishin' she could be here DOW/ And sometimes if you're Ionely just remember she can see there's holes in the floor of Heaven and she's watchin' over you and me

Court, Even though she can't be here, today, just know how proud we both are!

Congratulations!

Jeffrey

Thank you for being who you are; a loving son, a special brother and a caring grandson. You fill our lives with kindness and humor. Wherever the road may lead you, our love and support will always follow.

There are two things that I want you to make up your minds to:

First, that you are going to have a good time as long as you live -- I have no use for the sour-faced man, and

Next, that you are going to do something worthwhile, that you are going to work hard and do the things you set out to do.
